The Real Map of Ireland 25°W Maury Channel Rockall Plateau Rockall Bank Edoras Bank Rockall Trough 55°N-Feni Ridge Porcupine Bank Porcupine Seabight Bathymetry (m) Celtic Shelf Currently Designated Irish Continental Shelf Porcupine Abyssal Plain -1,000 -1,500 -2,000 The continental shelf is the extension of a states territorial waters where the natural prolongation of its land territory to the outer edge of the continental margin is beyond 200 nautical miles from the coastal baseline. The coastal state exercises over the continental shelf sovereign rights for the purpose of exploring it and exploiting its natural resources, subject to the provisions of Part VI of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea, available at http://www.un.org/depts/los/convention_agreements/texts/unclos/part6.htm. -2,500 -4,000 -4,500 -5,000 -5,500 Goban Spur Map Created: June 2019 Map Spheroid: WGS-84 Map Projection: Web Mercator Bathymetry image derived from the following sources: PAD 1996, INSS 2000-2006, INFOMAR 2007-2018, GEBCO 2014, version 20150318, http://www.gebco.net. Seabed feature names are derived from GEBCO Gazetteer of Undersea Features, available from www.gebco.net. Consulted 2014 - 04 - 16. Land elevation derived from European Digital Elevation Model (EU-DEM), version 1.1, https://land.copernicus.eu/. INFOMAR An Roinn Comhshaoil, Aeráide agus Cumarsáide Department of the Environment, Climate and Communications Geological Survey Marine Institute
Foras na Mara

Kilometers

15°W

10°W

5°W

THIS CHART IS NOT TO BE USED FOR NAVIGATION

20°W

25°W